Hello, I'm a first year medical student and I've been reading your blog for quite some time. I've noticed that there have been some changes to your site in the past few months, especially on the top-right, where you used to have your featured games. I was curious as to what's up with that, as that's my favorite part of your site (: For the past few months, I have noticed that I am not receiving notifications for new comments, via email. I would like to get notifications again, if that is possible? When I get them it's awesome, but I'm not sure I want to get rid of them again. Thanks!

I've noticed that there have been some changes to your site in the past few months, especially on the top-right, where you used to have your featured games. I was curious as to what's up with that, as that's my favorite part of your site (: For the past few months, I have noticed that I am not receiving notifications for new comments, via email. I would like to get notifications again, if that is possible? When I get them it's awesome, but I'm not sure I want to get rid of them again. Thanks! I think I have seen that before but I didn't see what it was. It was under 'Featured Games' in the top right hand corner, which you don't have any more. Does that mean I have to click on the videos in the top right hand corner or something? I don't know! I had the exact same issue. Go to your "comments" page and enter your email for an activation link. To get the notifications back you have to activate it. It could be that it's how you've setup your spam blocker as some settings are greyed out for me also and I'm not a huge spammer. About Us GodiGame is a popular gaming community from over 80 countries, where you can download games and socialize through gaming. Here you will find everything: news, forums, pictures, videos and more. If you love to play games, you've come to the right place.!

A: You are using two different versions of SQLite. This is your problem. When you create a new SQLite database, you have to tell it to use SQLite version 3. To do this, you have to add a `_USE_OLD_MECHANISM;` To your database creation query.

Alternatively, you can use one version of SQLite and change the database version with something like: "SELECT `sqlite_version()`" You can always query the database version by opening the database and running: `SELECT * FROM sqlite_master` And reading the version number from the created_version field. Update: It turns out that SQLite version 3.0.0 was released on September 5, 2008. If you installed SQLite version 3.6.23, then the _USE_OLD_MECHANISM is there for you to use. Update 2: You can solve this problem by switching your SQLite version to 3.0.0. Follow the guide here on getting SQLite 3 running. Update 3: Read up on the 1.4.0.1 release.
